LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 5th, 1887.

The government receipts during August averaged over $1,000,000 a day.

Speaker Carlisle will make some speeches in Ohio during the coming campaign.

Kentucky's new State officers entered upon the discharge of their duties Aug. 30th.

One hundred and thirty persons lost their lives in a burning theater in England Monday.

The trade dollar is now worth about eighty-one cents, this being its value as bullion.

President Cleveland and wife will attend the Alabama State fair at Montgomery, October 20th.

It is proposed to construct a railroad from Morgansfield, in Union county, to Hartford, Ohio county.

It is estimated that the corn crop of the South this year will exceed the yield of 1886 by 50,000,000 bushels.

President Cleveland and his wife will attend the Constitutional Centennial Celebration at Philadelphia next week.

The Texas drought has been broken by a flood, which has done much damage to property in some parts of the State.

Robt. T. Lincoln says he could not accept the nomination for the Vice Presidency if tendered him by the Republican Convention.

The fact that Pickett received the largest vote on the Democratic ticket may be considered a good indication that the fences are all solid.

The International Medical Congress is in session in Washington, with about 5,000 Doctors in attendance. President Cleveland opened the Congress.

Frank C. McNeilly, aged nineteen years, a "trusting" clerk in a savings bank at Saco, Maine, disappeared last week with about $250,000 belonging to the bank.

The Pennsylvania Democrats held a harmonious Convention at Allentown last week, and renewed their allegiance to the platform adopted by the Chicago convention in '84.

Commissioner Black, of the Pension Bureau, dropped from the pension rolls a woman who was proven to be an improper character, and on an appeal to Secretary Lamar, the decision of the Commissioner was sustained.

Few people slept in Charleston, S. C., last Thursday night, it being the anniversary of the great earthquake shock. Most of the people sat up the entire night, and were exceedingly disappointed when the repetition of a year before did not come.

Pranzi, the Italian who murdered two women and a child in Paris in March last, was guillotined at daylight on one morning of last week before a crowd of twenty thousand people, who had been encamped in the streets of Paris waiting for the execution for days.

As the special train carrying the State troops from Morehead passed through Mt. Sterling, an attempt was made to arrest Capt. McPherson in order to recover the guns which the State troops seized. The attempt was a failure and the guns are at Frankfort, in the custody of the State.

A Washington paper has published an article stating that Mr. Carlisle and the President have been in conference at Oakview, and that they are preparing a revenue bill that shall greatly reduce the tariff on the necessities of life, and, by way of compromise with the Randallites, abolish the tobacco tax. The tax on whiskey is to be retained. It is probable that the paper referred to worked upon its imagination to some extent in this instance.

Gov. Gordon and Gen. Pierce M. B. Young, of Georgia, are arranging a great military display on the battle-field of Kennesaw Mountain, to occur on the occasion of the President's visit to that State. Four batteries, ten companies of cavalry and six thousand infantry will participate in the battle which is to last two hours.

A Massachusetts writer calls the Gould baby a coupon from the bonds of matrimony. And it may be said that its grandpa is watching the youngster with daily accruing interest.—Courier-Journal.

Gov. Buckner, who used to be one of the boys himself, says that he does not propose to talk much to newspaper men for publication during his term. It was Gov. McCready's plan to give visiting newspaper folk a very pleasant greeting, an excellent cigar, and no news to speak of. Of course, Gov. Buckner's greetings will always be pleasant, and here's hoping as much for his cigars.—Ex.

Mr. Carlisle says that at the recent election in this State the falling off in the Democratic vote was caused by the confidence on part of the members of the party that its ticket would win anyhow, which caused many of them to remain away from the polls. He says: "The Democrats of Kentucky heartily support the Administration, and I know of no Democrat there who is not sincerely in favor of Mr. Cleveland."—Courier-Journal.

Speaker Carlisle remains at Oakview, Secretary Fairchild has returned hurriedly to Washington, Congressman Roger Q. Mills could not be found at his home last evening, and Col. A. K. McClure, of the Philadelphia Times, and Mr. Samuel J. Randall are hanging about the outskirts. If there is not a deal of tariff talking being done in Washington just now then all the signs fail.—Courier-Journal.

They Want the Earth.
[Breckinridge News.]

President Cleveland has made a splendid record as the soldier's friend. He has approved more pension bills than Hayes and Arthur combined. During the fiscal year just ended 5,017 more pension certificates were issued than in any one year since the establishment of the pension office. Yet every Republican State Convention that meets throughout the Union adopts a resolution condemning the action of the President for vetoing pension bills. The members of the G. A. R. and the Union soldiers would like to scoop in the earth, we suppose.

Sour Grapes.
[Courier-Journal.]

Mr. Robert Lincoln says that in view of the magnitude of the business interests which he would have to surrender, that "the office of Vice President is not of such importance that I could afford to think of such a thing." What can be the great things he is driving at, anyhow? He also says that it will be astonishing to many people to know that there is one man in the United States who don't desire to be President. Not at all. There are many millions who don't desire to be Emperor of China, because they know they can't get at it.

Simon Bolivar Buckner is now Governor of Kentucky. It is an exalted station, and one that would confer honor on any man. Kentucky is a State whose population is possessed of more individuality of character than the people of any other State or any country. Manhood is always conservative, and Kentucky, since her admission into the Union, has been the most conservative of all the States. In soil, climate, population, position, natural advantages and tradition of deeds heroic in the field, wisdom acknowledged in the Cabinet and statesmanship apparent in the Senate, as well as honor and eloquence everywhere, no people on earth whose history covers less than a century can compare with the people of Kentucky. It is, then, indeed an honor to be the Chief Executive of such a State. No man has ever been called to that station who betrayed the trust, and it reflects upon nobody to say that, in all that makes the character of a man truly admirable, Simon Bolivar Buckner is the peer of any man who has preceded him in his high office. He is a man of the highest personal character, brave, earnest and simple, and Kentucky has honored herself, as well as conferred honor upon the old hero, by calling him to direct her destinies during the coming four years.—Louisville Times.

Somebody has found that if thirty-two million people joined hands they would reach around the world. The citizen who wants the earth may now begin to figure on how many employees he will need.—Courier-Journal.

THIS GOOD OLD STAND-BY accomplishes for everybody exactly what is claimed for it. One of the reasons for the great popularity of the Mustang Liniment is found in its universal applicability. Everybody needs such a medicine. The Housewife needs it for general family use. The Cavalier needs it for his team and his men. The Mechanic needs it always on his work bench.

The Miner needs it in case of emergency. The Farmer needs it in his house, his stable, and his stock yard. The Stock-grower needs it—it will save him thousands of dollars and a world of trouble. The Railroad man needs it and will need it as long as his life is a round of accidents and dangers. The Backwoodsman needs it. There is nothing like it as an antidote for the dangers of life, limb and comfort which surround the pioneer. The Merchant needs it about his store among his employees. Accidents will happen, and when they come the Mustang Liniment is wanted at once. Keep a Bottle in the House. "This is the best of economy."

Keep a Bottle in the Factory. Its immediate use in case of accident saves pain and loss of wages. Keep a Bottle Always in the Stable for use when wanted.
